The Institute of Roofing (IoR) was founded in 1980 and is the only recognised professional body in the UK that offers individuals involved in all aspects of the roofing industry including contractors and manufacturers, the opportunity to gain nationally recognised roofing qualifications through a series of dedicated training courses provided by external training providers, covering six key roofing disciplines:

- Slating & Tiling
- Sheeting & Cladding
- Flat Roofing
- Mastic Asphaltting
- Liquid Coatings
- Single ply membranes

A Board of Governors oversees the activities of the IoR which is run on a day to day basis by its Director and Secretary based in London where it shares offices with the NFRC.

Why join the IoR?

In the increasingly demanding construction industry, roofing company's need to offer a competitive edge – this does not only apply to products and service but to people too – by demonstrating key staff have recognised roofing qualifications this is often perceived by clients as creating a much more professional organisation.

Importantly, it also enhances career opportunities for individuals who, via their IoR roofing qualifications can demonstrate a proven level of competence and expertise.

Apart from qualifications, there are many other benefits of being a member of the IoR, including access to CSCS management cards and direct links to legal, health & safety and healthcare service providers.

The Institute holds seminars and regional meetings where you can meet fellow professionals and there is also the AGM –where all members are welcome to come along and have their say.
